

International students cannot be issued a student visa to attend an entirely online program. The SPED program offered at Arkansas Tech University is 100% online. Students not seeking a visa to study in-person or who may have an alternate visa in which they can study incident to their status (an example may be a dependent of a spouse on a work visa) can be admitted to the program without any review from the government.

International students may be admitted into the Special Education program after submitting the required documents. This agreement states that you are aware that completing the Master of Special Education program and/or completing the optional certificates does not grant you licensure. Our program is accredited meaning that your degree and/or certificate is accredited. Please review the licensure/certification requirements for your area.

Please sign this document stating that you understand the above information.
